

Schools Library Request Filed by Supervisors

By vote of three to one, with Supervisor Paul Anderson dissenting, the four supervisors who presently make up the board put in the budget fund for consideration at the next budget time in June, a renewed plea by Ray W. Johnson, superintendent of county schools, that he be authorized to take over all existing contracts for supplementary library books and other materials adopted for courses of study in the public school of the county.

Supervisor Anderson said he could see no reason to tuck the request away in the budget files. He said it should be studied and considered now.

JOHNSON REMINDED the board that he had made the same request March 17, 1955. He said the board of trustees of the Riverside Public Library with which the county contracts for books had approved his plan February 14, 1955; the county board of education approved it March 3, 1955; member schools approved it last spring by a vote of 17 to 2, and the 1955 Grand Jury recommended its approval by the supervisors.

Under the plan responsibility for development of courses of study for public schools and selection and supplying of books and related materials would be that of the school administrative agency. Better coordination of library services and school district library needs would result, according to Johnson; common facilities and personnel would be utilized more efficiently.

JOHNSON SAID transfer of the library functions would bring into the county approximately $22,000 in state monies.

"This sum is part of the additional funds still available to the Riverside County superintendent of schools through the allotment formula by which funds are apportioned to the various county superintendents of schools throughout the state," he said. "If the formula funds are not used in Riverside County they will be allotted to other counties."

Twin Pines Gets New PA System

The public address system which will no longer be needed in the Superior Court Room of Judge Russell S. Waite since his court room has been renovated and is now only half its original size, will be sent to Twin Pines Ranch, juvenile boys camp in the San Jacinto mountains, in accordance with a request by Burt R. Van Horn, county probation officer.

Administrative Officer Begole said that otherwise the system would be sent to the county communications system for dissemination and use of parts. "It can be used to good advantage at Twin Pines," he said.

Paving of Snow Creek Road from 111 West Okayed

The board of supervisors approved paving of Snow Creek Road from State Highway 111 west of Palm Springs to the Snow Creek developed area on a cooperative basis on recommendation Monday by Road Commissioner A. C. Keith. Estimated cost of the paving is $8,500, of which $2,500 represents the cost of oil.

The road department was authorized to proceed with the work as soon as the property owners have paid the $2,500 for cost of oil. The balance will be paid from the county cooperative projects fund.

Keith also recommended that if rights of way can be acquired without cost, the county road section be extended some 270 feet to make a more desirable terminus with the existing development. To this the supervisors agreed also.

Two years ago formal rights of way were acquired and the road bed realigned and graveled as a District 4 Road Tax project. The road serves some 35 homes. It is approximately one and three fourths miles long.

John A. Van Pelt, president of the Snow Creek Improvement Association, gives credit for the Snow Creek project to the late Supervisor Homer Varner.

YOUR CHILD AND YOU

Status

By LURA OAK

From a child's point of view all adults possess easy and overpowering status. They are bigger and stronger than children. They can stay up late without asking. Why, they can even watch any TV program they wish. Also, they have money and own many things.

Children live with a constant awareness of inferiority which extends even to other children who have an advantage in years or in size. Very early in life, however, each child begins to pretend he is not inferior. He builds for himself a self-image (a self-ideal) and throughout his life he may never quite give up a pretense at being what he would like to be yet knows in his heart he is not.

Take Peter, for example. He is eight. His new companion, Brad, is two years older. All set to go fishing, they are walking together along a country road toward an old rowboat anchored in a cove. Brad had just returned from camp where he had learned to swim.

Says Brad, glancing down toward the smaller boy, "Peter, do you swim?"

PETER HALTS in his track. He faces Brad squarely and shoots back: "No, by gum, but boy! You should see me wade!"

How's that for a cover-up? He wonders. He senses a possible threat to that worthy self-image. He needs to maintain his feeling of status. But Peter is wide open now for a critical blow. Brad has the advantage. He can easily cut Peter down to size and age.

A thoughtless laugh or a taunting retort by Brad could ruin the morning and puncture big holes in the private security Peter has been feeling in the simple privilege of going fishing with a boy as big and as competent as his new companion. The incident happens to be a true report of the only words spoken on the way to the boat.

Happily for Peter and the morning's total enjoyment, there was not even a change in the expression of his companion's face. (How anxiously and how sensitively children search the face, noting and fearing the smirk, the look of annoyance or displeasure and cringing at the ingratiating smile!) Peter was lucky that morning.

YOUNG PEOPLE recoil at such status-reducing stereotypes as "tots," "kiddies," "kids," "brats," and even at "adolescents," since the latter has become almost synonymous with "brats." Their heads go up when they are referred to as "our young people," "the junior set" or, "future citizens." For daily use they prefer simply, "boys and girls" in preference to "children." More than we may have guessed, attitudes and behavior improve with a sincere gesture by adults which enhances their status and so strengthens their own self-respect.

The "spoiled brats" people are accustomed to criticize are merely children who have lost their self-respect and lack guidance to restore it. No one enjoys the company of a rude child. We show children respect for their "rights" as individuals when we help them live up to their own self-image which they remodel as fast as they accept new insights. worthy of their exalted concepts of the self they would like to be.

Safe Bus Driver III, Stops to Die

UNION CITY, Tenn. (AP) — Bus driver Larry W. Austin kept his one million mile safety record unblemished to the end.

Austin, 42, did not feel well when he pulled in on a run from Evansville, Ind., yesterday, but after seeing a doctor he decided to continue his trip to Memphis with a load of passengers.

Two blocks from the station he pulled his bus carefully to the side of the road and slumped over dead of a heart attack, his safety record intact.

Girl Maimed in Hilton Boat Accident Gets $50,000 Settlement

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A former airline stewardess has been awarded $50,000 in an out-of-court settlement from Hotelman Conrad Hilton in connection with a 1953 boating accident in which she lost an arm and a leg on Lake Arrowhead.

The settlement was announced Friday by Norman F. Bell, attorney for Boni Buehler, former Western Air Lines stewardess. She was thrown from a speedboat and struck by its propellers. Hilton owned the boat.

Bell said the settlement "in no way" effects suits for $500,000 in damages against several other defendants.

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The Navy wrote to William Jordan Jr. here and thanked him for his idea to improve the "snorkle" submarine breathing device which Jordan said he got from seeing a movie. Jordan's suggestion was submitted to prevent uncomfortable pressure changes which could result sometimes when the snorkle is closed. Jordan is 11 years old.

DOORMASTER OPENS

Touch a button on your dash, and the garage door opens automatically. Just imagine — never again having to slither through rain or snow to raise your garage door. Press a button, the door opens and the lights go on.

DOORMASTER CLOSES

The same button closes, locks the door and turns the lights off as you back or drive out of your garage. Lights are synchronized with the door — when it opens, they go on. When it closes, they switch off.

DOORMASTER LOCKS

No fear of prowlers lurking in the shadows while you close the garage doors. Drive in, door closes and locks. Door may be operated by a push button located inside your garage or home.

This is the amazing new device which has excited nation wide comment. You can see why. Because of its adjustable friction drive, DOORMASTER is safe. (It is actually less dangerous than the uncontrolled momentum of a hand-operated door.)

Fly Campaign Starts Today

Starting today, city waste disposal personnel will place red tags on containers which are defective, as the first step in a campaign to improve general sanitation conditions before the fly season returns.

Customers will then have 10 days in which to repair or replace the containers.

City personnel, as their part of the program, will take special care to replace lids tightly, and will handle containers with the care necessary to avoid bending or denting them.

Police Chalk Up Perfect Record in Mixed Up Case

Police today closed a case involving two men, petty theft, grand theft, a county-jail term of 90 days and a round trip to Phoenix.

Bob Nims, photographer-darkroom technician on the staff of The Desert Sun, drove to the parking lot of Thrifty Drug Store Christmas afternoon, went in to eat breakfast, met a friend and joined him for a later Christmas dinner. When Nims returned to pick up his car toward the end of Christmas, he discovered its absence and reported it stolen.

ABOUT TWO WEEKS later, the manager of La Paz Guest Ranch table was approached by a young worker of another stable offering to sell an obviously expensive saddle for $100.

Suspicious, the manager notified police, and an officer was dispatched after arrangements had been made to close the sale at a later hour.

The youth, Gerald Matthew Evans, known as Cody, drove up to the office, got out and made his offer again. He was arrested, later charged with petty theft, and taken into custody. The car he drove was parked out of the way when Evans told the officer that a friend of his would pick it up.

A WEEK LATER another stable boy discovered that the car belonged to Nims, called him, and Nims in turn called police.

Evans was returned from county jail for questioning, admitted the car was stolen, but denied guilt. He said it has been stolen by 31-year-old Charles Robert Hall.

Hall, who had earlier been found in Arizona when he was traced pursuant to a Bakersfield misdemeanor warrant, was found in Phoenix, and sheriffs in that county arrested him for Palm Springs.

He waived extradition, and was returned to the Village today to face a charge of grand theft. Cody Evans is finishing his sentence, and the car and saddle were returned to their owners.

MAKING VOTING HARD — States sometimes seem to be seeking ways to make it hard to vote, whereas they should make it easy. Unnecessary residence restrictions keep many would-be voters from the rolls. These have just received attention from Congress.

Both Senate and House have adopted a resolution urging the states to make it easier for persons who have moved from one state to another to vote in presidential elections in their new homes. The resolution states that if all other voting requirements have been met, residence in one state should be allowed to count towards residence required in any other state.

This reasonable suggestion may have been foreseen when the Constitution was adopted. Article 4, Section 1 says:

"Full faith and credit shall be given in each state to the public acts, records and judicial proceedings of every other state. And the Congress may by general laws prescribe the manner in which such acts, records and proceedings shall be proved, and the effect thereof."

The second section of this same article provides a clincher:

"The citizens of each state shall be entitled to all privileges of citizens in the several states."

The founders of the nation would probably favor the new Congressional resolution. States should lose no time acting on the broad hint of Congress.

GEOGRAPHICAL YEAR—Plans are now being prepared for one of the most comprehensive research projects in history. Scientists from 40 nations, including the Soviet Union and the United States, will spend an 18-month period beginning in July on a concentrated study of the world in which we live. During this period, officially named International Geophysical Year, earth and the space around it, as well as the effects of sun spots and cosmic rays will be studied.

Co-ordinated weather observations from all parts of the globe for days and weeks at a time will be provided the scientists. From this data, they will be able to draw up the world's first detailed weather map from which the interactions of weather conditions can be observed.

During the International Geophysical Year, America's man-made earth satellite which will gather information on cosmic rays, solar effects and conditions in the upper reaches of the atmosphere will be launched.

Some scientists will devote research to study of the Pacific Ocean. Others will concentrate on the aurora borealis in an effort to discover how it causes radio interference.

Science may assemble a great body of knowledge important to man during the International Geophysical Year. At the very least these studies may establish patterns for international research, which in itself is no mean accomplishment.

UNDOING OF DO-IT-YOURSELF—Everybody knows that progress has its penalties.

Probably when the cavemen were inventing the flint-tipped hunting-ax, a guide or two got knocked instead of the dinosaur when the stone slipped from under the thong.

History doesn't say, but you can bet there were some burned fingers when the Chinese were first tinkering with gunpowder. And how many sidewalk gawkers were knocked off when the discoverer was demonstrating the crossbow?

They, of course, were the original do-it-yourselfers. Where would we be today without them? At uninteresting, probably.

Now comes a researcher at the Rochester University School of Medicine and Dentistry, decrying the hazards of home do-it-yourselfery. Just because eager-beaver mom and dad don't read instructions, she says, the mayhem is terrific — worse than traffic's, in fact.

Maybe so. But wouldn't she, for mere fear of a crutch, wholly suppress the hard-up family's yearning for the more abundant life? Would she deny father the supreme pride of pointing to a homemade coffee table with a finger that isn't there? Would she forbid mother the pleasure of describing from her traction bed the lovely paint job she did on her kitchen? And who would believe Junior had harnessed the atom for peace in the basement, were he not swathed in attesting bandages. Shall we deprive mankind of the joys of courageous progress for the sake of a few digits? A thousand times, or dollars, No! Rather let all do-it-yourselfers rise in mass salute to the home enterprise — that is, those still wearing standard complement of arm and leg. Then let them demand of the Rochester decrier: How differ research and do-it-yourself?

You live to the Chest

There are the Scouts, boys and girls; the Youth Center, same; the Boys Club, the Health Center, Museum, Welfare and Friendly Aid — they do a tremendous good in the Village. But they won't be able to if you keep on looking the other way when the appeal is sounded.

Dig the need and then dig for the Community Chest.

I WAS GOING to let well enough alone and stop this chatter about the new California automobile license plates. But people keep stopping me on the Drive or calling in to report on new combinations.

Like: "Saw a good one today. JAM. That either belongs to a musician, or to a fruit manufacturing plant."

Or: "HUP. That seems to be what most motorists are in the thick of traffic."

And: "HUP. I didn't think you could get them any more."

WELL, with my method of taking notes—leaving out the vowels—to speed up the hand writing—I play a sort of Scrabble when on the highway, too.

Say one myself yesterday on Ramon Road which I liked. It was HNZ957.

Mrs. G. likes the new license plate system. Says it keeps me quiet and from paying my respects to other motorists while riding along with her on our highways.

One parting shot before I quit the ABC stuff. Got quite a lift out of a picture in a Los Angeles paper during the recent rain and resultant flooded streets.

An incongruous situation. A motorist stalled at an intersection. And his license plate had the letters DRY. (Well, it could have happened.)

WOMAN TELLS ME she picks her horses by horoscope and has had fairly good luck.

She must use her own readings. Because, technically, all horses have a birthday on January 1.

And that is under the sign of Capricorn.

And Capricorn means Goat. Which is what most horses run like when carrying the month's grocery bill.

THE DESERT SUN the other day heralded plans for a new golf course for the area. That will make six—when and if the municipal course is built.

So I think I will withdraw my suggestion for a marathon tourney to take in 18 holes on each course here and play from the 18th on one to the first of the next. That would be 113 holes.

Despite the world-wide publicity such an event would get us, it would probably turn too many of today's stars into decrepit shadows.

And, whether you pronounce it rodAYo or redEEO—take it in this week end. It's for a good cause.

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower on his health and whether he will accept the Republican presidential nomination: "The problem is what will be the effect on the presidency, not on me."

LIBRARY NOTES

With the coming of a campaign year here in the United States, the politically minded individual would do well to re-read the books and essays of George Orwell, perhaps best known in this country for ANIMAL FARM and 1984. Or, for an excellent and comprehensive review of his thinking, the Welwood Murray Memorial Library now offers Lawrence Brander's discerning and sympathetic autobiographical account called simply GEORGE ORWELL.

Orwell's peculiar virtue in this respect is his ability to stand off from the crowd and assess with accuracy the claims and motives of the various disputants. Orwell looked at everything with detachment, even his own illusions.

Nowhere is this brought more trenchantly to the reader's notice than in his autobiographical account of the Spanish war, HOMAGE TO CATALONIA, where he says: "It is difficult to write accurately about the Spanish war, because of the lack of non-propagandist documents. I warn everyone against my bias, and I warn everyone against my mistakes. Still, I have done my best to be honest."

"His best was very good for, as Lionel Trilling points out in the introduction to this book: 'What he records is now, I believe, accepted as the essential truth by everyone whose judgment is worth regarding.'"

Orwell was born in Bengal in 1903. His prep school days are described in SUCH, SUCH WERE THE JOYS, which was published in this country in 1945, and he attended Eaton before taking a job in the Indian Imperial Police in Burma. After this ordeal, which left him with feelings of guilt on the subject of English colonialism, he lived for a year in the slums of London and Paris, deliberately disciplining and purging himself with the experiences of poverty. Upon his return to England he once again resumed his chosen profession of writing and continued as a pamphleteer until the end of 1936 when he went off to Spain to observe at first hand the outbreak of democracy against totalitarianism. His experiences in Spain so candidly retold in HOMAGE TO CATALONIA, gave the direction for his work which finally culminated in ANIMAL FARM and 1984, both of which are brilliant and satirical attacks on totalitarianism.

In the essay WHY I WRITE (also reprinted in SUCH, SUCH WERE THE JOYS) Orwell says: "From a very early age, perhaps the age of five or six, I knew that when I grew up I should be a writer," and throughout his life he continued to hammer out and to polish his sharp, honest style. Nothing he wrote is slipshod and his eight rules for a writer (see page 35 of Brander's GEORGE ORWELL) might well hang on the study wall of anyone sincerely attempting to express himself in black and white.

Orwell was deeply interested in language, not only its use and growth but the reverse of the coin: how a certain kind of thinking can distort and limit meanings to the point where words can no longer carry the ordinary complexities of thought.

One of the most horrifying parts of 1984 is the appendix, which develops the principles of "Newspeak." Its horror lies in its very possibility of fulfillment, the seeds of which are already present in our civilization in the use, and the abuse, of propaganda.

It is heartening to note that, even though 1984 ends on a negative note (for Winston is taken away and tortured until he believes that 2 plus 2 equal 5), Orwell's own belief was not in doubt. His declaration of faith in the human spirit is contained in some verses at the end of his reflections on the Spanish War:

NO BOMB THAT EVER BURST
SHATTERS THE CRYSTAL SPIRIT.

In addition to the books mentioned in this column, the Welwood Murray Memorial Library has the following books by Orwell: COMING UP FOR AIR; KEEP THE ASPIDISTRA FLYING; and DICKENS, DALI AND OTHERS.

HOLLYWOOD — Doris Day wants to play "Peter Pan" ... Dana Wynter says the day she marries she'll quit acting. Dana has her cap set for Greg Bautzer ... Twentieth-Fox is coaxing Columbia to postpone Guy Madison's "Reprisal" so that Guy can play Marilyn Monroe's cowboy chum in "Bus Stop" ... Van and Evie Johnson started their 10th year of wedded bliss. Golly, it seems like yesterday! ... Warner's mail on "Marjorie Morningstar" lists the fans' choices for the one to play the title role in this order: Liz Taylor, Audrey Hepburn, Jean Simmons, Jennifer Jones. Who's your choice? ... There've been discussions about postponing the Prince Ranier-Grace Kelly wedding two months or so ... This is the "real gone" story behind the Burt Lancaster-Harold Hecht purchase of Irwin Shaw's book, "Lucy Crown." First a major studio bid $35,000 for it. Irving Lazar, Shaw's agent snapped back: "The price is $175,000!" Nothing happened.

Soon thereafter Hecht got hold of the galley proofs, read them, and immediately wanted to talk business—but quick! He got action. Lazar: "The price is $300,000." Hecht: "You have a deal." Lazar: "Oh, I almost forgot — we want an additional $25,000 so that the publisher can publicize and advertise the book properly." Hecht: "Fine. We'll agree to that too." Then, glancing up at the paintings on the agent's wall, Hecht asked, "How much do you want for those two small Picassos?" Lazar said $25,000. So Hecht bought them too! Jean Simmons told me she paid $175,000 for her new home in Bel-Air because she just HAD to have an extra bedroom. ... That cute Milly Koury. John Ericson's wife, is resuming her singing career ... Some 250 show-business oldsters and medium oldsters such as George Gobel, George Burns, Tony Martin, Eddie Cantor, Milton Berle, Henny Youngman and Parkyakarkas turned out to pay tribute to Eddie Fisher at the Friar's toast to the young singer ... Uncle Millie explained all the Yiddish punch was his first time at Friars feed lines to Gobel ... Gobel said it was his first time at Friars feed and he was nervous about the whole thing. So what did he do but what any red-blooded American comedian would do—he phoned his writers to write him a speech! ... "I don't know exactly how any writers, come to think of it," said George. "What I have, really, is a writer who has writers!"

Between those operations he performs on "Medic," Richard Boone is teaching acting in Pacific Palisades ... NEW YORK — A small boy of about 8 or 9 got on a bus in Durham, N.C., one morning recently and said to the passengers, "Did you all know that today is my birthday?"

Ecstatically, he opened the box to display a wrist watch, and there was pure joy on his face.

"It's from my Daddy," he said. "He tried to surprise me by wrapping it just like a pound of butter and putting it on the table at breakfast. But I almost knew it was the watch I wanted, and when I saw the little box inside ... isn't it pretty?"

A kindly reader, Mildred Southernland Suit, of Durham, who was on the bus, was so touched that she has written to me describing the incident and saying it was one of the "magic gifts" of childhood ... the gift that somehow the small boy will remember even when he is old.

"I remember mine," she said. "A bracelet of gold with two small amethyst drops, and I held my arm just as the little boy did, so I could see the deep purple drops ... and hear them tinkle."

And she's right because, something like 35 years ago I remember mine. I got up pretty early that morning of my 12th birthday. But no, my Dad seemed to have nothing special for me, nor did he even mention the date.

"Son," he said, "I broke the handle off the spade working in the garden last night. I wonder if you'd go down to Pontius" — the local hardware store in good old Rockford, O. — and fetch me a new spade handle before breakfast!"

Rather dejectedly I went, wondering how he hadn't remembered the date.

And when I got there, they gave me The Gift — a bicycle! Dad had ordered well in advance ... mudguards, coaster brake, rubber tips for the handlebars, a light, and even a bell to warn pedestrians. I was coming ... In bliss I rode it home. No Cadillac or Jaguar could ever mean so much as that bike I got early that morning in the very long ago.

I fear there's no "news angle" to this story ... except that a generation or so later, small boys and little girls are still getting gifts they'll never in a lifetime forget. What was yours?

WASHINGTON — Harold Stassen is the source of those mysterious intimations floating around that the U.S. has developed an effective defense against the cataclysmic hydrogen bomb.

The White House assistant for disarmament has been hinting this at so-called "background briefings."

But under close questioning, he has failed to back it up.

Stassen's "miracle defense weapon," as it was described, turns out to be an air-to-air guided missile with an atomic warhead. According to him, it will be tested in the nuclear experiments in the South Pacific this spring. The missile is designed to be used by intercepter planes to destroy enemy bombers.

These reports have been definitely traced to Stassen by the Joint Atomic Committee and the Special Senate Committee on Disarmament. Baffled by the stories, which were news to them, they made quiet inquiries and the reals led to Stassen.

Subsequently grilled by the Senate Committee, he not only admitted there is no real defense yet against nuclear attacks, but also revealed:

It is still not certain that all Russian atomic tests are being detected. No device or method has been perfected for spotting the location of nuclear-weapon stockpiles.

As explained by Stassen in his private talks, a drone jet plane will be used to test the air-to-air guided missile. He declared this test will be the first of its kind, and under simulated combat conditions.

In the Joint Atomic Committee, Representative Mal Price (D-Ill.) is demanding that both Stassen and Atomic Commission Chairman Lewis Strauss be summoned for questioning. Price contends atomic matters are outside of Stassen's jurisdiction and he should not be talking about them.

"We should find out what's behind all this," Price said. "Why should he be handing out this sort of information which is officially none of his business, and about which our Committee, which should know about it, has not yet been told. It's all very strange and extraordinary. Both Stassen and Strauss should be asked for a full explanation."

graphy that could detect a concealed stockpile?" asked Senator Barkley.

"That is right," said Stassen. "However, we feel that aerial inspection integrated with ground inspection could prevent a surprise attack."

Questioned by Senators Humphrey and Symington about guided missiles armed with atomic warheads, Stassen contended none now exist capable of intercontinental range.

BACKING HIS HOPES — House Republican Leader Joe Martin, an ardent believer that President Eisenhower will run for a second term, is offering 11 bets on that to all comers. So far Martin has more than 25 bets ... Federal civil service workers will be given a choice about retiring at 70. That is now mandatory, but Representative Albert Thomas (D-Tex.) is proposing a provision in the new budget of the Civil Service Commission allowing the government employees to stay on their jobs if they want to and are physically able.

AL CAFONE, notes Irv Kupcinet, had a favorite florist who had a standing order to send an elaborate floral wreath to the family of every hoodlum the Capone mob rubbed out. It was a lucrative business, and the florist showed his appreciation by getting the wreath over while the body was still warm. One day, in fact, he overreached himself. The wreath, with the victim's name tastefully worked out in white carnations, arrived before the police had even identified the body!

A Mr. Floogie in South Bend had a brand-new washing machine that went on the Fritz. Mr. Floogie had bent over to probe deep into the mechanism of the machine when Mrs. Floogie entered and turned on the switch. There was a whirr, and Mr. Floogie's legs shot up into the air. Mrs. Floogie watched him thrashing wildly about and observed happily, "Fine, Sam! You've got it working again!"

Last of 3 Sought in Neese Home Robbery Seized

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Joe Herbert Hoskins, last of three men sought for robbing a Kansas bank operated by the first woman treasurer of the United States, surrendered quietly to the FBI Monday night outside a Dallas tavern.

Hoskins, an ex-convict from Dallas, was not armed. He offered no resistance when FBI agents closed in on him and a woman companion after they came out of an east side tavern Hoskins was known to frequent.

Still sought today was a red-haired mystery woman believed possibly in the Dallas or Fort Worth area. She was believed to be a friend of Billy Gene Ross, Dallas hoodlum shot to death during an attempted robbery last Saturday of the home of Mrs. Georgia Neese Clark Gray in Richland.

The woman was seen driving a Cadillac with Texas plates on it in the area where the robbery took place. Later she called from a filling station in the area to ask about Ross.

Tastes in Flowers Change But Little, Florists Find

By GEORGE COFFEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO (U.S.-American men show more courage than they used to in buying flowers for their women. But they'd still rather order from a salesgirl than a salesman.

So says Victor Stein, president of the Florists' Telegraph Delivery Assn.

The average man would rather have a tooth pulled than subject himself to the embarrassment of buying a corsage or bouquet from a fellow male, said Stein, a prominent retail florist in San Francisco.

There's something very personal about ordering flowers and most men freeze up if the clerk also is a man," Stein said. "Men feel more like confiding in a woman and get less panicky discussing the intricacies of taste if a girl is waiting on them."

Stein, in an appraisal of the booming flower industry, also observed that:

"We've grown into a billion dollar business, but it's amazing how tastes stay pretty much the same. Roses still are the most popular flower, followed more or less in order by carnations, chrysanthemums, gladiolas and orchids."

Women continue to prefer those flowers and the men seem to realize it—at least according to the sales receipts. But there is one definite new trend. Women are wearing more tailored corsages than before. They like them simple and smart instead of flamboyant, frilly and heavily ribboned."

Suburban Effects

"Another trend is that women seem to prefer an arrangement of flowers for the home rather than a corsage, unless they are going out where they can show them off."

"We're going in more for arranged flowers now, instead of clusters of loose stemmed blossoms."

"The switch to suburban living also has had an effect on the flower business. We're getting more calls for the brilliant, massive flowers which can fit easily into spacious country homes. City living dictates small, intimate arrangements."

"Getting back to the man's approach, I've noticed most single men like to have their flowers delivered. And they usually order something for indoor display rather than a wearable item. I guess the theory here is they don't want all of their friends to think the girl has them trapped."

"But whatever the approach," Stein added, "We have two sayings in this trade: A flower says things for a person he can't say for himself. And: A rose is worth a thousand words."

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Greenfield are anticipating a visit from Mr. Greenfield's cousin, Emily Levine, of New York, who is expected sometime this week. Miss Levine is with the advertising firm of Young and Rubicam and has been on the West Coast on business for the past few weeks.

Big Doings Scheduled for Howard Manor

There will be big doings at Palm Springs' Howard Manor next Friday. The Esquire Trio, long noted for its sparkling three-way harmony vocals and comedy antics, opens a four-week engagement that night in Bob and Andrea Howard's smart Manor Room.

This will be preceded by a style show luncheon held poolside at 1 p.m. the same day. Dubbed the "Indian Fashion Festival," the show will preview the new glamour look in squaw dresses, featuring for the first time plunging necklines and low backs that make the dresses suitable for evening wear. Presented by Alpha Sportswear, the dresses have been flown to Howard Manor from Navajo, Hopi and Zuni Indian reservations in Arizona. They combine the primitive but colorful fashions of yesterday with the glamorous frills of today.

New Grandchild

Mrs. Reynard Joseph returned to the West Coast and is now in Beverly Hills, after spending some time with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Livingston Picard, in New York. She was there to await the new grandchild which made his appearance on Jan. 6 and was named John Livingston. Mrs. Picard is the former Adrienne Joseph, a graduate of Palm Springs High School.

Photographer Here to Make Color Pictures

Plotting some outstanding publicity for Palm Springs one recent noontime were Dewey Metzdorf, general manager of Oasis Hotel; Beth Scott, publicity director of that smart hotel; and Cliff Brown, Chamber of Commerce publicity.

Through the courtesy of Homer Hilton, local resident, the group was introduced to the noted photographer, Ivan Dmitri, who does the full-page color shots in the Saturday Evening Post. He is in Palm Springs to take some color shots of scenery and vacationers for a New York advertising agency.

For some real history of early days in Alaska told by Volney Richmond, who made it in his fur trapping days, those lucky enough to have attended his 85th birthday celebration in Oasis one recent evening got just that treat. For the past 20 years Mr. and Mrs. Richmond have been at the Oasis Hotel to cut his birthday cake. They come South from Seattle early in the Fall and stay until after Easter. Accompanying them to the hotel each year, and sharing the suite adjoining, are always the V. M. Dickeyes.

Mrs. Raymond Watkins, another long-time Winter guest at the Oasis, was joined by her brother and sister-in-law, also of Portland, Oregon, the Robert Shinn. Mr. Shinn has the largest maraschino cherry canning plant in the West located in Salem, Oregon. They, too, will spend most of the Winter in Palm Springs.

One of the enchantments of Palm Springs is the fine music we enjoy . . . Like hearing Nat 'King' Cole at the Chi Chi . . . He was one of the greatest and proved so popular that I hear he is being brought back . . . In our hotels and in our exclusive clubs we are privileged to hear the very best musical talent . . . Many of our talented musicians are generous about playing favourite songs . . . and Teddy Neel and Tony Rose have often played "I Love Paris in the Springtime" just for me . . . The other night in the Kiva Room Tex Kidwell sang it . . . and I asked him to substitute "Palm Springs" for "Paris" . . . and it sounded good . . .

Try it . . . "I love Palm Springs every moment" is good . . . Even "in the Winter when it's raining" . . . and "in the Summer when it sizzles" . . . fit in nicely . . . Maybe we can make something out of this . . .

One of the most enthusiastic members of the gallery at the Thunderbird tournament . . . was Virginia Acker of Washington, D.C., who flew out for the event and was a houseguest of George and Blanche Dulaney . . . She followed the players on foot for every one of the 72 holes . . . refusing to ride in Mrs. Dulaney's pink autoette . . .

Mrs. Acker's husband, Captain Frank Acker, USN, now a staff member in the Pentagon, commanded the floating machine shop USS Ajax in Korea waters for two years . . . While he was overseas, Mrs. Acker and their three daughters lived in LaJolla, near the Dulaney's summer home . . .

Mrs. Acker and Mrs. Dulaney have gone to spend a few days visiting old friends . . . but will soon be back on the golf course . . .

Virginia McLaughlin went to Beverly Hills to attend the funeral of her friend, former Villager Mrs. Keith McLeod, who died the first of last week . . . Virginia remained in town for several days shopping for an European trip which she is planning for March . . .

The George Alexanders spent the weekend at the Racquet Club . . . They had with them their son and daughter-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Robert Alexander and their cute little daughter . . .

Bob Kenaston Jr., son of Billie Dove and Bob Kenaston . . . handsome son of handsome parents . . . will appear on the General Electric TV show Sunday evening . . . in "Songs Caruso Sang" . . .

Chuck Walters . . . and associates Jack Smith and Manuel Alvarez . . . have sent out invitations for a cocktail preview of their smart new men's shop "Chuck Walters Presents" . . . this Saturday evening . . .

A patriotic invitation for a patriotic date . . . comes from the Dean Vincents . . . who will host a chuckwagon breakfast at their Rio del Sol road home . . . on Washington's Birthday . . .

They are planning a men's fashion show . . . to be held at the Tennis Club on February 10 . . . Handsome male models will show the latest in men's wear . . .

Mrs. Grover Weyland of Racine, Wisconsin, arrived Saturday on the Super-Chief to spend the Winter with her twin sister . . . and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Dougherty . . . Quite a few luncheons, dinners and social events are being planned for the visitor . . . including a luncheon to be given by the Doughertys' friends, the Fred McNeers of San Francisco . . . who arrive February 12 for their annual Winter visit . . . The McNeers will stay at the Racquet Club this year . . .

Attempt to Repeal House Moving Ordinance Fails

By THELMA GOODSPEED

RIVERSIDE — Although Chief Building Inspector C. G. Bixel offered a solution to a problem presented Monday by the Bureau of Indian Affairs in regard to the county's building and house moving restrictions, Supervisor Roman Warren ignored it and made a motion to repeal the county's house moving ordinance.

His motion was seconded by Supervisor Fred McCall, but again the two supervisors were defeated in their move to allow substandard houses to be moved into or within the county without requiring that they be brought up to building code standards. Supervisors Paul Anderson and William Jones voting against the repeal.

Bixel's suggestions were delegated "to the board table." The chief building inspector said consideration should be given to exempting from restrictions of the building and house moving ordinances, (1) prospectors' dwellings and accessory buildings; (2) homestead dwellings and accessory buildings where 40 acres or more are involved; (3) dwellings and accessory buildings within the Indian reservations.

CERTAIN FOUNDATION. Requirements would have to be lived up to as would the county's electrical code and plumbing and sanitation codes under Bixel's suggestion which also provides that moving to or onto the lands of the prospectors, homesteaders or Indians could be done without a moving permit when the structures to be moved can be relocated without the use of moving dollies or without liability of becoming a traffic hazard.

Dale M. Baldwin, field representative from the Bureau of Indian Affairs, told the supervisors that a number of the substandard housing units have been moved into this county and onto Indian lands, from San Diego where they were made available by the U.S. Navy. The buildings have been available to the Indians for about one year, in San Diego and Imperial counties as well as Riverside county. He said the Bureau of Indian Affairs wants to comply with the laws of the county, but had been unaware that they were violating provisions of the house moving ordinance.

Bixel said there are certain portions of one or two of the Indian reservations, including the Morongo in Banning, which lie within the building code of the county. He said one of his inspectors tumbled onto them and gave notice of violation. He said he understands there are already on reservations and in process of being moved about 30 of the structures.

County Counsel Ray Sullivan, Jr. said he could see no means of relief to those who have already violated the law. As to the future, he said amendment of the ordinance to put Indian reservations in a classification to which the building code and permit provisions do not apply, as suggested by Bixel, appears to be the only solution.

SUPERVISOR McCALL agreed with Supervisor Warren that the provision in the house moving ordinance which prohibits the moving of substandard houses without a permit or without requiring that they be brought up to building code standards when relocated, is confusing. He said that under no conditions should building code restrictions be applicable in non-coded areas.

"It's the responsibility of the people to protect themselves," McCall said. "If they want protection of the building code then they should petition to this board to have their area coded."

"It doesn't make sense to have building code requirements in uncoded areas," agreed Supervisor Jones, "but this ordinance was adopted in haste and I wouldn't vote at this moment to repeal it in haste. It needs study. I think the big problem is to relieve the Indians who have already moved the buildings in violation of the ordinance."

Largest, Most Costly Store Planned in DHS

DESERT HOT SPRINGS — Construction of "the largest and most costly store building ever built in Desert Hot Springs" has begun at Palm Drive and Eighth street.

The $45,000 structure, being built for D. P. Robinson and William Carpenter by Desert Palm Builders, will house an office of the Realty Company of America, a de luxe delicatessen, and two retail stores. Completion is scheduled within 60 days.

The store fronts will be almost solid sheets of glass, bordered by ceramic tile and live stone, with Lucite doors, and the grounds will be landscaped with floodlit palm trees. The sidewalks in front of the structure will be terrazzo, an innovation in DHS.

The building will be air-conditioned throughout.

ORDINANCE.

DAVE HENNIGAN from the district attorney's office remarked that the purpose of the ordinance was to prevent decrease of property values by bringing in substandard structures. However, he said that use of the substandard buildings on Indian lands increases rather than decreases values. He said no criminal action would be started by his office without issuance of complaint.

Bixel said that he is forced under the house moving ordinance provisions to file complaints against the Indians who have already moved the buildings onto their property. "We would be guilty of negligence," he said, "if we did not file complaints on known violators."

The discussion ended without any action being taken by the board other than placing Bixel's recommendation on the board table where it can be studied.

THOUSAND PALMS Post Office is now displaying its new signs. On top of the new building just east of Highway 60-70-99 on Ramon Road, is a freshly painted, repaired, cut-out letter sign proclaiming THOUSAND PALMS. It was taken from the roof of the old post office and fixed up by Norman McRae, who was the original owner of the sign. This particular sign has been for many years a "trademark" for the community. New cut-out letters affixed on the front of the post office overhang were also done by MacRae. Another sign, which was given the Thousand Palms Post Office by Sidney Greenleaf of Rancho Mirage, may be put on the side of the highway to designate the location of the building. Mrs. Eleanor Lennie is postmistress at Thousand Palms.

TODAY'S SPORT PARADE

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer
Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.

NEW YORK (U-P)—Low Hoad, the long disappointing dynamite from down under, was serving notice today that he is the man to fill Tony Trabert's tennis shoes.

The rugged Australian blond for more than three years has stood on the threshold of greatness. There were, however, nagging questions about him when he failed to win any of the world's major tennis championships.

But that mark doesn't stand against him anymore.

HOAD SILENCED the queries, and established himself as the probable new king of the amateurs, when he started this season in auspicious fashion by finally winning the coveted Australian championship for the first time. He did it impressively, too, with a whirlwind four-set conquest of Davis cup teammate Ken Rosewall, his chief challenger for international honors.

It was no accident, none of those one-shot performances.

For the 21-year-old bulldozer of the courts had mastered Rosewall a brief span earlier in the New South Wales championship, and in the same decisive four-set manner. Hoad also had swept through to victory in the Victorian championships.

This has started him off well on top in a year which will see the two Anzac youngsters scrambling mercilessly against each other for Wimbledon and United States honors—and the fabulous professional offer which is certain to go to the man who can sweep them all.

ONLY HOAD can do that now, with the Australian title already stowed away. And it seemed to settle the question as to his ability and desire.

"On a stroke basis, he is the world's greatest," Aussie Davis Cup Captain Harry Hopman said last year.

Yet Hoad was knocked off in the Wimbledon championships by Budge Patty and defeated in the U.S. semi-finals by Trabert. The theory persisted that he suffered lapses in concentration and during letdown periods could be upset by almost anybody.

Even so, Hoad showed that when he was "up" he was practically unbeatable. Like in the Aussie's 5-to-0 Davis Cup rout of the United States. He blasted Trabert in four swift sets, teamed with Rex Hartwig to win the doubles and then flattened Vic Seixas.

INDICATIVE of his ability, he still drew a $45,000 offer from pro czar Jack Kramer to turn professional. Kramer, who had signed Trabert for $75,000 in desperation finally upped the offer to $56,250. But when the Australian tennis fathers made certain concessions, Hoad gave it the old Brooklyn war cry: "Wait 'til next year."

Next year has arrived, and Hoad realizes, if he sweeps the boards he will receive that $75,000 offer this time around.

Obviously it is enough of the green stuff to keep even Hoad on his toes at all times. Another item which is helping him is a "new" perfectly tuned backhand which has become a real winner. This shot, incidentally, is a payoff on his doubles play.

HE HAS everything else in the matter of shots with a blazing service, powerful forehand and blistering volley.

Off his early performances and double disposition of Rosewall, Hoad has taken quick command of the top spot vacated by Trabert. If he continues working on the theory that every match is a big one, and doesn't let down, he's obviously going to stay there, too.

Clark No Candidate

LOS ANGELES (U-P)—Don Clark, line coach at the University of Southern California, has taken himself out of the running for the job of head football coach at Brigham Young University. Clark, who has been mentioned as a possible successor to Chick Atkinson, said, "I am not a candidate for the Brigham Young position."

Palm Springs Indians took over undisputed possession of first place in the Riverside County League last night by galloping past a pesky Coachella outfit, 60-44, in one of the roughest tilts this conference has ever seen. Players were banished from the game and coins were tossed at the referees while the Indians were coming from behind to win their seventh straight game.

An overflow crowd in the under-sized Coachella gym watched the home town Arabs jump off to a quick 10-0 lead in the opening minutes of the first period, only to see the visiting Braves come back with a 20 point spurge of their own midway in the first half.

THE DIFFERENCE in the contest was the amazing accuracy that Palm Springs displayed at the free throw line. The Indians connected for 22 foul shots out of 30 attempts, while the Arabs hit for just six. Leading the way in this department was Skip Martin of Palm Springs who bucketed 11 in 13 tries.

The Arabs completely bottled up the league's leading scorer, Charles Jordan, holding him to a scant eight points, compared to 27 the last time these two squads met. The massive Indian, however, kept up his tremendous defensive work, using his big hands to block Coachella shots and grab rebounds equally well.

THE INDIANS CLIMBED in front for the first time in the contest 50 seconds before the end of period one on a long set shot by Mickey Pellum. After that Coach Ralph Watt's cagers continued to build up their lead until the game ending buzzer.

The first half ended with Palm Springs on top 37-22, but it was after the intermission that the game really began to get rough. Pellum, who had already accounted for 18 warrior points, was driving in for a lay up when Coachella's Bob Chambers came from behind him and while attempting to block his shot threw the Indian speedster to the floor. Pellum got up with fire in his eyes and if it wasn't for the quick intervention of teammate Vic Reyes, punches would have been exchanged. As it was, Pellum had said too much and was ejected from the game. It was then that a storm of pennies from the crowd besieged the referees. Tempers continued flaring through the remainder of the game, but somehow a major outbreak was prevented.

PELLUM'S 19 POINTS were enough to take home high scoring honors from among the Indians. Coachella's Reinertson, who had 20, came away with the game high. The Indians' Sam Jones seemed back in his old form last night after being hampered by a foot injury since the first game of the season. The jump shot artist helped to pace the Palm Springs attack by dumping in 13.

The victory of the local warriors set the stage for next week's encounter with San Jacinto that could very well decide the 1956 Riverside County League Championship.

MIKEY PELLUM, Palm Springs guard, lays up and in while a couple of Arabs watch. Pellum took scoring honors away from teammate Charley Jordan, the league's leading scorer, when he bucketed 18 points to Jordan's eight. Indians won in Coachella gym last night, 60-44, in only RCL game played. (John Simon Photo)

HUSKIES, UCLA BATTLE FOR LEAD IN COAST CONFERENCE HOOP RACE

LOS ANGELES (U-P)—Statistics showed today why UCLA and Washington will be battling for the Pacific Coast Conference basketball leadership in their two-game series here this weekend.

UCLA, undefeated in four games, leads the conference in total offense and rebounding. Washington, tied with Southern California for second place with a 5-1 mark, tops PCC teams in total defense, free throws and field goal defense. SC is top ranked in the sixth team statistical department—field goal accuracy. The PCC commissioner's office reported.

IN INDIVIDUAL scoring, Dave Gambee of Oregon State is the leader with 139 points in eight games. He is followed by Larry Beck, Washington State, 119; Bill Bond, Stanford, 115; and Morris Taft, UCLA, 105. Taft has the top game average, however, getting his points in only four contests for a 26.3 average.

UCLA has averaged 87.3 points in each of its games, well in front of Southern California, 68 points, and Stanford, 65.5. In rebounding, the Bruins have grabbed 224 rebounds to their opponents' 139 for 61.8 per cent. SC has a 54 per cent rebounding mark and Washington 53.3.

WASHINGTON has held opponents to 53.3 points a game, followed by SC's 55.2 defensive average and Stanford's 57.4. The Huskies' tight defense is demonstrated by the fact that their opponents have hit on only 30.3 per cent of their field goal attempts. Southern California leads teams in field goal shooting with a 43.7 per cent average.

Other individual leaders are field goal shooting, Taft, 42 of 77 attempts, and Ray Bell, Oregon, 12 of 22, for a 54.5 percentage each; free throw shooting, Bob Blake, California, 18 of 21 for 85.7 per cent; and rebounds, Willie Naulis, UCLA, 71 of 368 opportunities for 19.6 per cent.

Vines to Spend Summer at Long Island Golf Club

Ellsworth Vines, head professional at Tamarisk Country Club, will follow his associate pro, Joe Lucas, to a Long Island, New York, club this summer for a four-five-month job as head professional there.

Vines, who has been at Tamarisk with Lucas for two seasons, will replace Joe Doering as the head pro. Since their big golf season is in the summertime, Vines will have Lucas and Roger Pedigo assisting him.

Vines and Lucas will return to Tamarisk Oct. 1, and Pedigo will stay there the year-round.

The club is named Inwood Country Club. Lucas will arrive there April 2, and get the summer schedule organized, and Vines will follow when the season is at its peak, after the Tamarisk season ends, and all Tamarisk facilities but the course and the office are closed till October.

Vines is presently preparing pairings for the fourth annual Founders Invitational Tournament, slated for Feb. 17, 18 and 19, to be played in foursomes of members and their guests, no professionals.

Siesel Signs with Los Angeles Rams

OXFORD, Ohio (U-P)—Roger Siesel, senior tackle on the University of Miami's undefeated 1955 football team, announced Tuesday he had signed a professional contract with the Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League. The 21-year-old Siesel said the contract had been brought here by Rams Assistant Coach Lowell Storm.

Jenkins Wins First Medal for America

Colorado Skater Takes First Place in Figure Skating

By CHARLES RIDLEY
United Press Sports Writer

CORTINA, Italy (U-P)—Hayes Alan Jenkins, 22-year-old Colorado dervish, earned America's first gold medal in the 1956 Winter Olympics today when he won the men's figure skating championship.

In a superb demonstration of precise skating in icy weather, Jenkins beat out 18-year-old Ronnie Robertson of Long Beach, Calif., for the title, ending America's point famine that had existed through the first 14 events of the Olympic program.

David Jenkins, Hayes' 19-year-old brother, took third place, giving the Yanks a 1-2-3 sweep. This harvest of 19 points raised the Americans' total to 28½ points and boosted them from ninth to sixth place in the unofficial team standings.

ROBERTSON'S free skating figures were termed more original by European experts, but the judges gave Jenkins a higher point score on the basis of his near-flawless execution. Jenkins had opened a lead Sunday in the compulsory figures of the competition. He maintained his advantage with his brilliant exhibition in the free skating phase that completed the championship.

A Swiss girl and three untiring Finnish women skiers won the two other Olympic championships on today's schedule.

Madeleine Berthod, Switzerland's "skiing milkmaid," celebrated her 25th birthday by winning the women's downhill ski race by a record margin over her closest rival. In this event, Andrea Mead Lawrence, Parshall, Colo., failed in her third attempt to win a gold medal in the 1956 winter games.

IN THE WOMEN'S 15-kilometer cross country relay race, Siiri Rantanen, Finnish mother of four children, overcame a six second deficit on the final leg to provide her nation with a smashing triumph over Russia's world champions.

By placing second in the women's cross country race, Russia added five points and increased its first place total to 94 points in the unofficial team standings. Austria retained second place with 48½ points and Norway held third with 44. America was ninth with only 9½ points.

Alumni Group to Seek Troy Coach

LOS ANGELES (U-P)—President Fred D. Fagg Jr. of the University of Southern California has appointed an advisory alumni committee to help the school look over possible candidates for the Trojan head football coaching position which will be open after the 1956 season.

Fagg made clear, however, that the alumni committee will not interview or contact any possible candidates. Its job, he said, would be to "survey the records" of possible candidates selected by university officers.

SC Coach Jess Hill will become athletic director after the 1956 season.

MODERN GOLF

By DALE ANDREASON
Golf Instructor at El Mirador Hotel

This picture illustrates a sound body pivot.

The left shoulder has wound to a full 90 degrees, pulling the left hip to a 45-degree turn. My swing is neither upright or flat, it is in between.

It is important to realize that Ben Hogan's arc of swing is flat, Byron Nelson's is upright and Sam Snead's is in between.

I sincerely believe that the basic reason these men were all great is that they let their mannerisms of the left side set their swing.

A good way to practice this action is to put your left arm out in front of you and concentrate on the left shoulder winding; you will soon feel the shoulder, back and side muscles stretching to the left hip and forcing it to turn. This sets the left side in a very strong and controlled position.

Moreno Starts Comeback Riding Two Long Shots

ARCADIA (U-P)—Jockey Pete Moreno was back in winning form today following a four-month lay-off from riding because of injuries suffered in a spill at Bay Meadows.

Moreno scored with two long shots at Santa Anita Park Tuesday. He had started his riding comeback last Friday. In the sixth race, Moreno booted Mighty King to victory in the $6,000 Cancer

DeMarco Remains 5-3 Over Jordan

LOS ANGELES (U-P)—A week's postponement has not changed the odds in the Olympic Auditorium main event Thursday night between former lightweight champion Paddy DeMarco and Don Jordan. DeMarco still ranks a 5-3 choice to beat the young California state titlist.

DeMarco, Brooklyn, and Jordan, Los Angeles, were scheduled to meet in the Olympic's 10-round main event last Thursday. The bout was postponed because promoters feared a heavy rainstorm would hurt the gate.

Grandmother, 39, Who Put 7 Tots in Foster Homes, Has Triplets

SEWICKLEY, Pa. (AP)—A 39-year-old grandmother, who saw seven of her 11 other children enter foster homes when she divorced her husband, expressed confidence today she would be able to care for her newly-born triplet sons.

"As far as the new babies are concerned, I'll manage somehow," red-haired Mrs. Huldah Vos said. "I want to get a big house and get all my children together again."

BEFORE ENTERING the hospital early Monday, she had been living in a two-room apartment in Ambridge, Pa., with three of her eldest sons.

THE BIRTH of triplets came just two days before her twin son and daughter celebrated their second birthdays. Actually the triplets were the 13th, 14th and 15th offspring born to Mrs. Vos, who was married at 17. One other child died at the age of eight months.

TOO EXCITED to even name the new arrivals, Mrs. Vos said from her bed in Sewickley Valley Hospital, "I feel fine, simply fine. I'm not tired at all."

Mrs. Vos separated from her husband, Peter, last July and obtained a final divorce decree in November. She worked as a waitress in a Sewickley luncheon until her condition forced her to resign in September.

Trees were planted on 3,280 farms in 1955 in connection with tree planting programs in North Dakota. In all, 6,119,085 trees were planted.

Probe of Gifts to Politics by Oil Giants Urged

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Thomas C. Hennings Jr. urged Congress today to investigate the political contributions and influence of the nation's "giant" oil companies.

The Missouri Democrat proposed the inquiry in a prepared Senate speech attacking the controversial natural gas bill. He charged that enactment of the bill would be "a victory for monopoly."

Sen. Pat McNamara (D-Mich.) charged in another prepared speech that the "oil lobby" is spending $1.5 million to support the natural gas bill.

The Senate met an hour early today for the 12th day of debate

Japan Dubious About Admitting Deported 'Rose'

TOKYO (AP)—The chief of the Immigration Bureau today refused to say whether Japan will accept U. S.-born "Tokyo Rose" if she is deported by the United States.

"We will make a decision when we are faced with the actuality," said Fujio Uchida, chief of the Justice Ministry's Immigration Bureau.

"Off hand I would say it appears strange that the U. S. government should start deportation proceedings against her when she was born in the U. S. and is an American citizen," he said.

on the bill. The measure would exempt independent natural gas producers from direct federal price regulations.

Caps Bill on Union Gifts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The AFL-CIO Political Education Committee has blasted as Iron Curtain legislation a bill that would ban political contributions by labor unions.

Sen. Carl T. Curtis (R-Neb.) introduced the bill yesterday. Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.), chairman of the Senate GOP Campaign Committee and critic of union political activities, cosponsored it.

Curtis said the bill would preserve "the political freedom of the workers of the United States" and protect them from having their money "forcibly taken away from them for political purposes."

Co-director James L. McDevitt of the Political Education Committee attacked the bill as "another step in the long campaign of some Republicans to punish labor for asserting its constitutional rights in political activity."

He said the bill "is based on the theory, borrowed from behind the Iron Curtain, that all political opposition should be outlawed."

Australia Licks Worst 'Hopper' Blight in History

By ROBERT C. MILLER
United Press Staff Correspondent
MELBOURNE (AP)—The worst grasshopper plague in Australian history has finally been controlled.

Victoria's director of Agriculture, P. Ryan, said more than $500,000 was spent in the fight which covered some 400 square miles in Victoria and New South Wales. Ryan said the use of airplanes was a big factor in controlling the movement of the hoppers.

Crops and pasture land valued at more than $35,000,000 were threatened by the hordes when they began their overland march in December.

"It has been a desperate fight," Ryan said, "but with the aid of the four planes, we have won out."

"Without them the losses would have been terrific, as we had to cover three times the area of the 1953 plague."

It is not yet known how much damage was inflicted upon individual farmers by the insects which seemed to bubble out of the ground by the millions.

Swarms were sighted that covered an 83-square mile area. Four planes, three of them American DC-3s, were in the air from dawn to dusk during the height of the battle spraying tons of insecticides over the infected areas. The hoppers were so thick in some areas that highway traffic was stopped and the swarms clouded the sun.

Ingenuity No Excuse for No Security

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP)—A paperweight became a classified item at the Army's super-secret guided missile center at Redstone Arsenal because security is so tight.

The paperweight, a fancy, miniature rocket, was innocently fashioned by an employee at the center a year ago. It was spotted recently by an alert security officer, classified top secret and locked up.

It looked too much like a new rocket which has just been developed, officials explained.

HOME WITH A VIEW

It's in Little Tuscany, of course. The sliding glass doors from the master bedroom lead to a private patio. The living room glass doors lead to another to take full advantage of the view. A flagstone fireplace spills out into the L shaped living room and dining area. This two bedroom, two bath home is designer built. There are walled, landscaped gardens just beyond the glass walls of the baths and marble (well, maybe not real marble) shower walls and the same "marble" is used for the free form pullman sink. This is a Little Tuscany home you can afford. $32,500 UNFURNISHED

Income Property

Four Unit Income property, on a corner. The lot is big enough to expand the building. Each apartment has a private patio, the shrubbery and landscaping are complete, even has a sprinkler system. The units are all rented. The price is $42,500, furnished

Famous Circle-B-Ranch

80 ACRE DESERT FARM ESTATE. Palm Springs area. Ideal as gentleman's country estate — private club — guest ranch or deluxe subdivision. Located a stone's throw from the famous B-Bar-H Guest Ranch and Country Club, which was recently subdivided. 2 large warm, free-flowing artesian wells, sparkling water and lots of it. A desert oasis with historic background. This healthy and restful location was selected and carefully planned by a former movie star, who spent over $200,000 in improvements alone. Would take years and twice this amount to duplicate today. The Rancho gained an enviable reputation among discerning people. Was also used as a movie location for many prominent Western pictures. Many a "Red-Skin" bit the dust on this famous Rancho. Sheltered location of the main rambling Ranch House contains over 3000 feet of masonry construction and every room is air conditioned. Four bedrooms, 2 baths, 20x24 living room, 15x24 dining room with huge fireplace. 14x21 lanai and playroom. Modern kitchen. All newly decorated. In excellent state of repair and fully furnished. Plus separate guest and storage room. Separate cottage used as living quarters by caretaker's family. Superb swimming pool. Spacious lawns. Tropical foliage. Family fruit orchard, including dates, figs and citrus, all irrigated by free-flow artesian water.

Garages, work shop, tools, shop equipment, storage shed, complete with tractor, and full set of farm working equipment all in excellent condition. Electric pressure water system. Underground gasoline storage with pumps. Corral and chicken houses.

40 acres in alfalfa and permanent pasture. Rainbird sprinkler irrigation. Balance of acreage in unspoiled desert domain. Trees of excellent growth. Miles of huge Tamarisk windbreaks. Entire ranch completely fenced and cross fenced. A natural for raising horses or cattle. Registered Circle-B cattle brand. Many other features and items included, too numerous to mention.

All the above for sale at a firm price of $125,000 with excellent terms. Will consider part exchange. Owner J. Norman Acoff, 2222 S. Broadway, Los Angeles 7, Calif. Phone R 7-7611. Ike-Eden Talks Close on Issue of H-Test Controls

Leaders Agree on New Peace Efforts in Middle East to Meet Red Inroads

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Anthony Eden wound up their talks today with a top-secret discussion of nuclear energy, including chances of controlling East-West H-bomb tests.

The two top western leaders planned today a communique telling the world of their:

Determination to undertake new peace efforts in the Middle East in the face of Russia's efforts to stir up trouble by giving arms to Arabs. If war should come between Jews and Arabs, the two powers would join with other nations to take strong action to halt aggression by either side.

Willingness to negotiate "just and fair" agreements with Russia on disarmament, German reunification, lowering East-West barriers and settling other key cold war problems. But Allied willingness will be based again on Russian "deeds not words."

SECRETARY of State John Foster Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd were scheduled to go over final agreements and disagreements before Mr. Eisenhower and Eden parted.

The communique to follow the final White House meeting will skirt the differences remaining on trade with Red China—which Britain wants to increase—Red China's membership in the United Nations, and Britain's smoldering feud with Saudi Arabia.

Nuclear weapons and uses of nuclear energy for peace were the only new items taken up during the third and last day of the Eisenhower-Eden talks. Chairman Lewis L. Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission was called in for this phase of the talks.

PRIMARY attention centered on Britain's announced plans to test a hydrogen bomb this year and American plans to test similar weapons in the Pacific.

Mr. Eisenhower and Eden are expected to gloss over Russia's repeated demands that East and West ban H-bomb tests. But Eden has been thinking lately about some way to regularize and control the number of H-bomb tests. The United States is highly skeptical about getting into any such agreements with Russia.

Eden has endorsed Mr. Eisenhower's turn-down of Russia's recent offer of a 20-year peace pact with the United States. This Soviet move and calls for banning H-bomb tests were regarded as major parts of a new Soviet "peace campaign."

New Mid-West Snow Blanket Predicted Today

By UNITED PRESS

A storm front ranging from the plains to the western gulf will move east today and tonight with heavy snows expected to fall in the Middle West and as far east as Indiana, the Weather Bureau warned today.

Freezing rain and sleet warnings also were issued for the area stretching from Northern Oklahoma across Southern Illinois and most of Western Virginia.

VERY COLD weather was forecast for the Northern Rockies and the northern section of the Western plateau.

The Weather Bureau said the storm would spread over the Central and Southern Great Lakes region, the Ohio Valley and the Central Gulf states.

Warnings of heavy snow with from 4 to 8 inches were issued for Western Nebraska, Northeastern Kansas, Northern Missouri and Iowa. From 2 to 5 inches of new snow were predicted for Central and Northern Illinois and Indiana. Light rain or snow fell early today over the Winter wheat belt. The new snow brought the snow cover up to 9 inches in some Kansas areas.

COLD WEATHER prevailed for most areas with 27 degrees below zero at Drummond, Mont., and sub-zero temperatures extended across Northern Minnesota to Southern Wyoming and west into Northern Nevada and Eastern Washington State and Oregon.

The mercury ranged in the 50s in the gulf coastal regions and in the 40s across Southern Oklahoma, Arkansas and Tennessee.

Rain fell in Eastern Texas and Oklahoma. To the north, snow fell as far as the Eastern Dakotas.

French Assembly Approves Mollet by Big Majority

PARIS (AP)—The National Assembly voted Socialist Premier Guy Mollet into office early today with an overwhelming majority that promised him solid "third force" backing against the Communists and the right-wing Poujadists.

The Communist bloc voted for Mollet's left-of-center government but he did not need their support—he even scorned it—as he won the vote of confidence by a near record 420 to 71.

Not since the first days of the Fourth Republic when the Reds were in the government have premiers piled up such confirmation votes. The record was Socialist Leon Blum's 544 to two vote in the 1940s.

Ted Kovack Gets 3-Day Sentence

Ted Kovack, 30, former owner-manager of the Turquoise Villa in Palm Springs and present manager of the Case Hotel in Los Angeles, yesterday was sentenced to three days in jail for contempt of court for failing to make mortgage payments on the home of his three children and his estranged wife Donna, 23.

Kovack told Superior Court Commissioner Victor J. Hayek that he had not been able to keep up with the payments because he could not afford more than the $200-a-month child support and alimony award.

He was found in contempt, however, after she had sued him for divorce. He told the commissioner that he worked for his parents and that his salary is only what they can spare.

He was found in contempt, however, after Mrs. Kovack testified that he had paid $800 down on a 1954 Cadillac last August and the installments are $130 per month.

Carnation corner

by June Goodie
CARNATION HOME SERVICE DIRECTOR

It's here! It's back! My very favorite Carnation Treat-of-the-Month—Cherry Vanilla Ice Cream! I just can't wait to taste those plump, juicy maraschino cherries blended all through creamy-rich Carnation Vanilla Ice Cream.

Only Carnation could make it so good, because Carnation uses only PRIZE CHERRIES, carefully selected from 12 different varieties. That's what makes this Cherry Vanilla Ice Cream the most luxurious you've ever tasted. Enjoy it often, while it lasts, in one of these

Choice ways to serve Cherry Vanilla

Simply scoop generous portions of Carnation Cherry Vanilla Ice Cream into bowls and serve with vanilla wafers.

My husband calls this "Double Cherry Dessert." Buy individual frozen cherry pies and bake them according to package directions. Before serving, top with generous scoops of Carnation Cherry Vanilla Ice Cream.

Try these easy-to-fix "Red Cherry Sundae" next time you entertain. Mix 1/2 cup sugar with 2 tablespoons cornstarch in saucepan.

Add 1 cup juice from canned red cherries; stir until smooth. Cook sauce until thickened and clear, stirring occasionally. Add 1 1/2 cups well-drained red cherries. Serve sauce over Carnation Cherry Vanilla Ice Cream.

Try to keep ice cream at an even temperature. Buying more than you need at once is fine if you have a home-freezer or separate refrigerator freezing compartment...but if you don't, buy just what you need for a meal. Extreme changes in temperature will give even the smoothest ice cream a grainy texture.
